THE SENATORIAL DEAD-LOCK

DANGER OF A COLLISION BETWEEN MAHONE AND HIS ANTAGONISTS.

Gen. Mahone and his Antagonists.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Senator Mahone states that he will not ask to be paired with any Democratic Senator in view of the comments made yesterday on his being paired for a few moments last week. The situation in the Senate is somewhat threatened by Mahone's health. The Virginia Senator is affected with malarial chills, and finds it difficult to remain constantly at his post. Commenting on the passage between himself and Ben Hill yesterday, General Mahone declares with emphasis that these assaults upon his character from the Democratic side must stop. Those who are near to Mahone fear that before the exciting session ends there may be a personal difficulty between himself and some of the Southern Senators. It is well known that Gen. Mahone would not decline a settlement of a personal difficulty in accordance with Southern notions.

AID FOR THE DAKOTA SUFFERERS.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—At the Cabinet meeting today, President Garfield called attention to the destitute condition of the hundreds of homeless sufferers by the recent floods in Dakota, and expressed his earnest desire to have every needy relief extended with the least possible delay. It was decided to authorize the issuing of army rations for two weeks and clothing and supplies. An arrangement was also made by which salt meat, which cannot be furnished at the needed points in sufficient quantities by the War Department, is to be furnished through the Interior Department from the Indian supplies, to be replaced eventually by the War Department.

Gov. Ordway, of Dakota, was at the White House immediately after the Cabinet meeting, to confer with the President relative to carrying out the plans for relief.

AN ASTONISHING AFFAIR.

Officials Accused of Fraud to be Punished in Spite of Rank and Family Connections.

MADRID, April 15.—A profound sensation was caused in naval and military circles in Madrid and the principal ports of Spain by a telegram from the Governor General of Cuba announcing the sentence of court martial upon eighteen officials accused of fraud in the naval department of Cuba. All the accused were sentenced to penal servitude. Among them are relations of persons of rank, holding the highest position in the mother country. Admiral Berasger has ordered a court martial to proceed immediately against thirty more accused officials and several civilians. The government is resolved to show no mercy even to the highest offenders. General Blanco telegraphs that the sentence caused much sensation in Havana, but was approved by public opinion and the press of the colonies.

NEW YORK.

Another Compromise Case Perhaps.

NEW YORK, April 15.—John J. Jourdan under arrest here for the past three months, charged with the robbery of the Middletown, Ct., Savings Bank, escaped from Bellevue hospital yesterday afternoon, and is still at large. His counsel had been persistently opposing his removal to Connecticut on a requisition and their appeal had just been decided against Jourdan by the Court of Appeals, when they had him removed to the hospital, three physicians certifying that he suffered from malaria. Here he was placed among the ordinary patients, without a guard, and before the close of the day he coolly walked out.

THE CITY $300,000 IN POCKET.

The suit of the city against the Union Ferry Co. to recover a fair rent for the ferries which had been leased, it is claimed, illegally for ten years, at a dollar a year was compromised tody. The company is to pay the city $300,000 in settlement.

A BAKER IN TROUBLE.

Various trades unions of Brooklyn have commenced to "boycott" John H. Schultz, a baker, who discharged some of his men for joining the union. Tonight it was reported that twenty grocers had resolved not to sell any more of his bread, and that tomorrow 200 women would visit all persons who now take his bread, and request them not to patronize him.

FOREIGN.

Death of the King of Abyssinia

VIENNA, April 15.—A telegram from Alexandria announces that the King of Abyssinia is dead, and has been succeeded by his son Michael. A letter from Assib states that the King fell in a battle fought with the Assaimeraks.

LORD DUFFERIN OFF.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 15.—Lord Dufferin, the retiring British Ambassador, left here this afternoon. The whole diplomatic corps, the ministers, and other distinguished people were present at the railway station to see him off.

ANOTHER PETARD.

A Madrid dispatch says:—A large petard was exploded at the door of the Church of Santa Maria, yesterday, while the edifice was full of worshippers. The door was damaged, but nobody was hurt.

EFFECTS OF THE GALE.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., April 15.—A three-masted vessel, name unknown, was driven on the rocks during the night near the mouth of this harbor, and close to the Newcastle shore, where she lies hard fast. United States tug Leyden was sent to her assistance.

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., April 15.—A terrific gale from the northeast, with snow, sleet and rain, has been prevailing since last night, and three schooners, two fishermen and a coaster are ashore in the harbor.

BOSTON, April 15.—Steamer Roman, Capt. Crowell, from Philadelphia for Boston, is at anchor off Bass river, detained by the storm. Schooner Dexter, from Portland, is ashore on Long Island (Boston harbor) and bilged. A steamer, supposed to be one of the Portland boats, is at anchor this forenoon one mile west of Tinker's Island, having run in for shelter. A life boat from Marblehead has started out to board her.

CHATHAM, Mass., April 16.—A long boat, deck frame and other pieces of the wreck of schooner J. G. Huntington, of Portsmouth, also several barrels of mackerel have drifted into this harbor this morning. No doubt the schooner came ashore during the gale last evening and went to pieces. A clock was picked up this morning stopped at 12 o'clock. Nothing is known of the crew, but have not heard from the life station as yet. The gale was very severe.

GLOUCESTER, April 15.—British schooner Esther, Capt. Maloney, from St. Andrews, N. B., for Boston, cargo, railroad sleepers, stranded on Misery Island, at the entrance of Salem harbor, at 3.30 this morning. The schooner and the cargo are a total loss. The captain and crew, six in number, amid great peril and difficulty, saved themselves by landing from the main boom.

PROCEEDINGS OF CONGRESS.

No Republican Caucus to be Held.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Stalwart Republican Senators are exerting themselves against holding another caucus, and they will probably carry their point. They are unwilling to allow the matter of breaking the deadlock to be even considered.

The vote to go into executive session today disclosed the fact that two more than a quorum were present. Tomorrow being Good Friday, it was suggested by a number of Republican Senators to Senator Dawes to adjourn over until Monday. He will make that motion when the time arrives to adjourn.

Morgan of Alabama has the floor, and is lecturing the Republican Senators and Republican newspapers for using undignified and indecent language, and particularly deprecating the disgraceful scenes of yesterday.

Typhus fever and small-pox are prevalent in New York city. Last week there were 55 new cases of typhus and 51 cases of small-pox. The small-pox hospital contains now 119 patients, and the typhus tents shelter 56 men and women.

TWO MEN KILLED IN A QUARREL

And Four Men Killed at the Inquest.

EL PASO, Texas, April 15.—Day before yesterday, two young Mexicans, named Jaurique and Sanchez, were shot and killed by Americans in a difficulty about some land, some eight miles up the river from here. The Mexican Consul, with an armed force of Mexicans having obtained permission from the Mayor came over here, and took possession of the dead bodies. While the remains were in a wagon in front of the Justice's office awaiting an inquest last evening, a dispute arose about the presence of armed Mexicans between G. W. Campbell, John Hale and a policeman named Keimpkan. Hale covered Keimpkan with a pistol and the shooting began. Hale shot Keimpkan; the City Marshal shot Hale and a Mexican accidentally, and also shot Campbell, thus making six men lying in the street at one time. Hale died in a few minutes; Keimpkan was killed instantly; Campbell died this morning, and the Mexican is in a critical condition.

THE EXECUTION IN ST. PETERSBURG.

The Hanging Witnessed by Thousands of People.

LONDON, April 15.—A correspondent at St. Petersburg, says many thousand people passed the night at the place of execution in order to obtain a good view. The executioner was a reprieved convict. The prisoners were conveyed from the fortress in two carts with their backs towards the horses, and their hands tied to boards on their breasts bearing the words "Regicide" in large letters. After hanging twenty minutes the bodies were cut down and taken to a cemetery outside the city.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 15.—The man arrested with unlawful prints in his possession is named Essaroff.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 15.—When the prisoners mounted the scaffold, the head of each was covered with a sack. They were then placed upon stools, which were drawn away, and they were left to strangle.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 15.—The appeals for mercy of the Nihilists, Russakoff and Michaeloff, were submitted to the Czar, but he replied that the sentence of the court must be carried out.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 15.—The condemned Nihilists were escorted from the fortress to the place of execution by Cossacks and infantry with drums and fifes. Detachments of guards stationed in St. Petersburg surrounded the scaffold. All the prisoners received the ministration of the priests and kissed the cross and each other. They were very firm except Russakoff, who fainted at the last moment.

THE STRIKE IN CINCINNATI.

CINCINNATI, April 15.—The street-car strike tonight includes all the roads in the city except two; also all the roads in Newport, Ky. About eight hundred men are on the strike, and nearly seventy-five miles of road lie idle. The strikers met tonight and had a large attendance. The speeches were moderate in tone, and they resolved to avoid violence and stand firm. The consolidation lines in Cincinnati work the men fifteen hours daily, and pay from ten to twelve cents an hour. The Newport companies work the men 17½ hours daily, and pay within a fraction of nine cents per hour. The Newport lines run over to Cincinnati. The strikers threw four or five cars off the track today and made the drivers go home with their horses. They also stood guard at the stables and prevented cars leaving. No personal violence was used and no collisions have been had with the police. People sympathize almost universally with the strikers, but disapprove of throwing street cars into the gutters. The crowds of strikers at vicinities where the lines centre were humorous, but were very quiet and orderly. The railroad authorities will not answer until their meeting next Monday. A few contributions of money from citizens were sent in tonight.

ROCK ISLAND SUBMERGED.

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., April 15.—This city and the lower lands adjacent are again under water, with the water still rising. The river is filled with running ice, and Thursday afternoon the running ice formed an outlet through a narrow slough, which, filling up, caused the inundation of the city. The water commenced rising at six o'clock, and soon submerged the railroad tracks and lower part of the city. It continued to rise, and soon First avenue and the cross streets were completely covered to the depth of twelve inches. People residing in the low lands immediately south of the city have moved out of their houses, expecting a break in the embankment which protects the land. The morning train on the Rock Island and Peoria Railroad was abandoned at Milan, the passengers being conveyed to this city by carriages.

GEORGE H. LEWES AND GEORGE ELIOT.

Miss Evans's literary work in London brought about an acquaintance and a warm friendship with some of the more remarkable literary men of that time. Among others may be mentioned Mr. Herbert Spencer, her close friend for so many years; Mr. Pigott, then editor of the Leader newspaper, to the pages of which she occasionally contributed; and George Henry Lewes, whose name will always be indissolubly associated with her own, and which she bore for nearly the whole remainder of her life. The question has naturally some interest how far two persons of such remarkable intellectual individuality affected each other's work during the many years of their joint lives. Those who have read George Eliot's novels but superficially, and who have been acquainted with the fact that Mr. Lewes's studies lay very greatly in the direction of physiology, have thought that they discovered his influence in the many scientific similes and allusions which abound in her works; but they are wholly mistaken. In the very earliest writings, as well as in the latest, are passages of this character; and it was only because people noticed them more, as the circumstances of her life became known, that any special importance has been attributed to them. That each largely influenced the other is true, but the influence was the subtle effect of companionship and association, and certainly there was but very little of direct stimulation, or even direct criticism.

Mr. Lewes's character attained a stability and poise in which it had been somewhat lacking, and the quiet of an orderly and beautiful home enabled him to concentrate himself more and more on work demanding sustained effort, while Mrs. Lewes's intensely feminine nature found the strong man on whom to lean in the daily business of life, for which she was physically and intellectually unfitted. Her own somewhat sombor cast of thought was cheered, enlivened and diversified by the vivacity and versatility which characterized Mr. Lewes, and made him seem less like an Englishman than a very agreeable foreigner. Was the character of Ladislaw, to ourselves one of very great charm, in any degree drawn from George Henry Lewes, as his wife first remembered him? The suggestion that she should try her hand at fiction undoubtedly came from Mr. Lewes. Probably no great writers ever know their real vein. But for this outward stimulation, she might have remained through life the accurate translator, the brilliant reviewer, the thoughtful poet, to whom accuracy of poetic form was somewhat wanting, rather than as the writer of fiction who has swayed the hearts of men as no other writer but Walter Scott has done, or even attempted to do.—[C. Kegan Paul, in Harper's Magazine for May.

THE LATE DR. PUNSHON.

Rev. W. Morley Punshon, LL. D., the distinguished Wesleyan minister, who died yesterday at Brixton, England, was born at Doncaster in 1824, and after serving as a clerk for some time began to study for the ministry. In 1840 he was known as the "boy preacher" of Sunderland, and four years later, after passing a term at the Wesleyan College, Richmond, was appointed to the pastorate of Marden, Kent. In 1845 he was transferred to Whitehaven, and soon became known not only throughout the North but in the metropolis as a preacher and platform speaker. In 1868, his wife having died, he left England for Canada and there married her sister. The English law forbids marriages of that kinship and Mr. Punshon's action was severely criticised in some quarters. He remained in Canada until 1873, his second wife dying in Toronto. While there he built the Metropolitan Church, one of the finest Wesleyan churches on the continent, and was five times chosen president of the Dominion Conference. On his return to England, he was elected president of the British Conference. His son, Rev. J. W. W. Punshon, died in February last. Dr. Punshon published several books of poems, sermons and lectures, and was regarded as the most eloquent preacher in the Wesleyan ministry. He was well known throughout the United States.

THE LOUD OR QUIET BONNET, WHICH?

The Albany Argus says:—The ladies of Albany will feel properly indignant at an Ottawa policeman, who acted in an atrociously unwarrantable manner. He arrested two respectable young women, in that city, one day last week, "because they were wearing loud hats." His "object," as he explained, "was to teach them how to dress quietly in the future." Positively no evidence was given to show that they had dressed nosily, or that it was any policeman's business, if they had. At Ottawa lives the Marquis of Lorne, and the opinion of the regnant forces in American society, concerning his lordship, will be affected by the question of whether he approves of this sort of thing or not. Since his celebrated order that every lady attending the receptions of the vice-regal court, should appear in low-necked dresses, he has been held responsible for the regulation of womanly attire, and has gained in that complicated field more renown than in the politics in which he has sought to be a figure, or in the literature, in which he has sought to be a force. The bonnet question is certainly within the scope of his talents, and the incident cited is one on which the ladies, who appear to be his lordship's main admirers, can certainly demand an explanation. Failing to get it, an appeal to Miss Gail Hamilton, who is understood to be Mr. Blaine's assistant Secretary of State, might prove effective, and would surely prove interesting. An open letter from this accomplished woman to the Marquis of Lorne, on "The Loud or Quiet Bonnet—Which?" would solace with sensation the monotony Mr. Blaine is said to disrelish in his present office.

THE LIFE OF CARLYLE.

While writing his history of Friedrich the Great, the author had prepared—as, indeed, the growth of the work had demanded—a special study at the top of his house in Chelsea, in which only that paper, book, or picture was admitted which was in some way connected with the subject in hand. One side of the room was covered from floor to ceiling with books; two others were adorned with pictures of persons or battles; and through these several thousand books and pictures was distributed the man he was trying to put together in comprehensible shape. I used to feel when in that study that even more widely was the man before me distributed. In what part of the earth have not his lines gone out and his labors extended? On how many hearts and minds, on how many lives, has he engraved passages which are transcripts of his own life, without which it can never be fully told? To report this one life, precious contributions must be brought from the lives of Goethe, Emerson, Jeffroy, Brewster, Sterling, Leigh Hunt, Mill, Mazzini, Margaret Fuller, Harriet Martineau, Faraday—but how go on with the long catalogue? At its end, could that be reached, there would remain the equally important memories of lives less known, from which in the future may come incidents casting fresh light upon this central figure of two generations; and were all told, time alone can bring the perspective through which his genius and character can be estimated. In one sense Carlyle was as a city set upon a hill, that cannot be hid; in another, he was an "open secret," hid by the very simplicity of his unconscious disguises, the frank perversities whose meaning could be known only by those close enough to hear the heart beat beneath them; and many who have fancied that they had him rightly labelled with some moody utterance, or safely pigeonholed in some outbreak of a soul acquainted with grief, will be found to have measured the oak by its mistletoe.—[M. D. Conway, in Harper's Magazine for May.

A young Bohemian couple living near Glencoe, Iowa, met with a peculiar experience during the last snow-storm in that vicinity. They were living in a little shanty under the hill, which was covered in a drift, and the husband dug his way out and went over to one of the neighbors. Another storm coming up he was unable to find his way back, as nothing of the house could be seen. It was three days before they could find the house, which was finally done by sounding with a pole. They dug through the drift and found the young wife as comfortable as could be expected under the circumstances.

.....It is currently reported in London that Mark Twain has already received $25,000 for his share in the profits from the "A Tramp Abroad."

.....While Remenyi was playing at St. Louis, on Wednesday evening, three strings of his violin broke one after another, and he nearly fainted and could not go on with the concert. The audience were dismissed, and received their money back at the box office.

.....The contest over the will of Thomas P. Wallace, the wealthy brewer of New York, came up in the surrogate's office on Thursday. The will bequeaths an estate of $500,000 to two sisters and one brother, ignoring another brother, who now contests on the ground of undue influence.

.....Nicholas Deering, the last survivor of the Harvard class of 1810, is dead. It is told of him that when Uncle Tom's Cabin was first performed at a theatre which he owned at Portland, and the poor black woman was being sold to the villain Legree for $5000, he leaned out of his box and excitedly exclaimed, "I'll give $6000!"

.....Mr. James T. Fields has presented to the Pilgrim Society at Plymouth two valuable autograph poems. They are the manuscript poems of William Cullen Bryant upon the Pilgrims, beginning. "Wild was the day; the wintry sea moaned sadly on New England's strand," and the manuscript of a poem by Ebenezer Elliott, the corn law rhymer of England, on the Pilgrims. The manuscripts are handsomely mounted.

.....The reason why Anna Dickinson broke her engagement to appear in Philadelphia as Claude Melnotte seems to have been the physique of the actress proposed for Pauline. Miss Prescott, who was first cast for the part, is taller than Miss Dickinson, and Miss Stewart, the second selection, is short and fat. The manager argued that Mary Anderson frequently acts with Claudes and Romeos shorter than herself, and refused to provide an actress of the right size.

The severe winter proved the ruin of Milwaukee's Steam Heating Company. It could supply but 45 degrees of heat although 65 was needed, patronage was withdrawn and the company suspended and turned its works over to the customers. They tried to cover too large a district, some of the pipes extending a mile and a half from the works.

THE RED MASK.

A Mocking Demon Stalking Abroad.—All Danger from it Averted by a Skillful Physician.

There are for many reasons few diseases more to be dreaded than Erysipelas, and it has, not inaptly, been termed "St. Anthony's Fire." There is no disease which so completely deforms and disfigures the visage of the patient; and it may fairly be compared to a red mask thrown by a mocking demon over the human face. It is almost as dangerous as it is repulsive. Arising from a variety of causes, running its course with pain—it often ends suddenly in death. The old treatment consisted of blood-letting and the use of strong drastic purgatives. The substance of the enlightened modern treatment is all contained in Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." Use this, and you have taken the essential total of all the best physicians in the land could prescribe for Erysipelas. A case in point. Mr. S. B. Carpenter, of Grandville, N. Y., writes that he had for some time been afflicted with this disease in both legs, and has regained his health by the sole use of "Favorite Remedy." Other cases might be cited, did space permit. "Favorite Remedy" is also sure in its action in all other diseases of the blood. Ask your druggist for it, or address the Proprietor, Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

Announcements for Tomorrow.

ST. MARY'S CHURCH—At St. Mary's Church mass will be at 7, 9 and 10.30 A. M., and vespers at 7.30 P. M.

SECOND BAPTIST CHURCH.—Rev. D. C. Easton, of Valley Falls, will preach in the Second Baptist Church, in exchange with the pastor.

THAMES-STREET METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH—The pulpit of the Thames-street Methodist Episcopal Church will be occupied by the Rev. Mr. Bodfish, a former pastor of that church.

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—There will be no service at the First Methodist Episcopal Church during the day or evening. The session of the Sunday School will also be omitted.

EMMANUEL CHURCH.—There will be full Easter service at 11 o'clock, with a celebration of the holy communion, and sermon by the rector. The Sunday School will hold its Easter festival at 3 o'clock.

UNION CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.—There will be an Easter praise service in the Union Congregational Church in the evening at 7.30 o'clock, the Sunday school to take part in the services. Subject, "The Risen Saviour."

TOURO CHAPEL.—At Touro Chapel, the subject of the sermon at the morning service, at 10.45, will be the "Resurrection." There will be preaching at 3 P. M., and a Sabbath School concert at 7.45 P. M. The topic will be "Christ is Risen."

The King of Abyssinia is dead.

Lord Beaconsfield's condition is improved.

The Millet Ranche in Texas, has just been sold for the neat little sum of $300,000.

The Boston Transcript speaks irreverently of "The Nation" as "the organ of fault finding."

The Mississippi river in rising rapidly and the city of Rock Island, Illinois, is partly submerged.

Considerable damage was done on the coast by Thursday's gale. A number of wrecks are reported.

Five of the Czar's assassins were hanged at St. Petersburg yesterday. An immense crowd witnessed the executions, but there was no disturbance.

The petition of Stearns K. Abbott, sentenced to be hung on the twenty-eighth of this month for the murder of Mrs. Crue, for commutation of his sentence to imprisonment for life, has been refused.

Says the Boston Globe, "Another shipload of lunatics propose to go north and freeze up with the country. They ought to be given timely warning that no relief expeditions will be fitted out if they don't come back."

Memorial services were held at the tomb of Abraham Lincoln yesterday the sixteenth anniversary of the assassination. It will be remembered that he was killed on Good Friday, which came on the fifteenth of April as it did this year.

Christian K. Ross is said to consider the letter recently received from England in reference to his lost boy worthy of consideration and has sent a cablegram to his brother-in-law who is now travelling abroad. This is the fourth time the detectives of Scotland Yard have been set at work in this case.

At the funeral of the Hon. Nathan T. Dixon, in Westerly yesterday afternoon, the Rev. George Harris conducted the services. There was a large gathering of the prominent men of the state. The bearers were Henry B. Anthony, Edward H. Hazard, Dr. John E. Weeden, Surgeon Thomas M. Potter, U. S. N., Capt. David S. Babcock, Rufus Waterman, John P. Campbell and Courtlandt P. Moss. The burial was in the family cemetery.

Bob Toombs says he will never take an oath of allegiance to the United States government. Bob acts very unreasonableby considering that the government did not hang him when it had a right to. But the country can stand it as long as the Georgia traitor may be able to keep up the fight. If Toombs did not proclaim his treason once in a while the world would not know that there was such a man. It is the old story of the fly on the elephant.

Tomorrow is glorious Easter, and the Christian world will celebrate the anniversary of the resurrection of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. It is a celebration that thrills the hearts of all true believers, and inspires anew the hopes of mankind. While the era of speculative theology is upon us and men are pressing their doubts and denials to the front, the church takes great pleasure in the observance of an anniversary that has been kept well on toward 2000 years, and that is as fresh and dear to the hearts of the faithful as at the first. The Lord is risen indeed, is the key note of the joyous celebration, which every year extends its influence and power. That resurrection was the grandest miracle of the ages and is still the basis of the pope of a general resurrection and of a future life.

People who remember the vile epithets that were applied to the advocates of silver coinage in this country, such as "lunatics," "fools," "repudiators," "thieves," &c., &c., will be interested to know that the best financiers of the world now approve of bimetalism. Within a short time the Liverpool Chamber of Commerce has declared for the double standard, and two thousand of the most prominent merchants and manufacturers of Manchester have petitioned the Government to move in that direction. The merchants of Glasgow ask the same boon and the soundest and most influential business men of England, Germany, France, the Latin states, and our own country declare for silver coinage. If its advocacy was a "craze" at the beginning it is now evident that there are a great many crazy men in the world. The disease seems to be contagious and is likely to prove the death of the selfish theories that were pushed forward in the interest of the few against the well being of the many.

There is hope for the South, and through the returning reason of Southern politicians, for the country. As the two sections have a common interest it is a great pity that one should be arrayed against the other. The era of good feeling will never return until the North and South cease to be practically solid against each other. There are now numerous signs of a breaking up of the old domination in several of the Southern states. The last that is reported is in Mississippi, where it is said a new independent movement is in progress. A correspondent in speaking of the prospects of that movement says:—It will have the support of 50,000 white voters, and of nearly or quite all the colored voters. The white men who are engaged in it are determined to see a fair election and an honest count in Mississippi once more. The platform of the new party is summed up in two sentences from General Hancock's letter accepting the Democratic nomination for the Presidency. In that letter Gen. Hancock said:—"It is only by a full vote, free ballot and fair count that the people can rule in fact, as required by the theory of our Government. Take this foundation away and the whole structure falls." This is the whole political platform of the new party. On it we hope and expect to win. In the counties, sheriffs, county clerks, etc., are to be chosen, and we shall therefore find no difficulty in perfecting the county organizations. We shall hold no conventions. All our candidates will be pledged to one thing, that, if elected, they will demand and obtain possession of their offices. We do not intend that they shall be defeated by violence or fraud, or if elected that they shall be kept out of the offices to which they have been chosen. Ex-Senator Alcorn will be our candidate for Governor. For State Auditor we shall put up a gentleman who has been prominently identified with the anti-Bourbons during the last two years. Our conference, which was held some weeks ago, was attended by about sixty leading gentlemen from different parts of the state. All except seven or eight of them, I believe, formerly acted with the Democratic party."

EASTER SERVICES.

At Trinity Church.

The first service of the day will be the Easter morning service at eight o'clock with celebration of the Holy Communion. The full Easter service will be at the church at 10:45 when there will a celebration of the Holy Communion. At this service the rector will preach, and the music will be especially fine. The children of the two Sunday schools, Trinity and St. John's will have their annual Easter festival at half after three in the afternoon at Trinity church. The musical selections for the day are as follows:—

A NEW CANDIDATE IN THE FIELD.

Mr. James B. Brayton announces that he is a candidate for City Marshal and his friends may govern themselves accordingly. Bolting has come to be the order of the day and Mr. Brayton claims that he has an illustrious precedent in the history of the canvass for City Marshal last year.

AN OLD RESIDENT HEARD FROM.

Jonathan Sherman, of Portsmouth, R. I., the veteran building remover, is at present engaged in moving a building belonging to the purchasers of the Globe Print Works property. Mr. S., although somewhat advanced in years, still retains the same vigor and energy that characterized him in early life. Many citizens of Newport doubtless remember, twenty odd years ago, the remarkable feat accomplished by Mr. Sherman, of moving the Henry Young building, a task which was considered impossible by all, owing to its immense size and weight, and the narrowness of the streets. A Providence contractor refused to take one thousand dollers to do the job, giving as his reason that it was impossible to do it. Mr. Sherman carefully measured his distances, and although having in some places less than a quarter of an inch to spare, successfully accomplished his gigantic undertaking, to the surprise of everybody. Having occasion on the route to turn a sharp right angle, a large cannon ball was procured from Fort Adams, the huge structure balanced thereon, and in an indescribable short space of time, was turned and rapidly moving down the street, with Mr. Sherman in command. The cost to the owner was four hundred dollars, although he afterwards presented Mr. S. with a check for four hundred more.—[Fall River News.

—Yesterday's snow has entirely disappeared.

—Dr. Edward Kershner, U. S. N., is at the Perry House.

—Mr. C. F. Frasch makes a seasonable announcement in another column.

—Capt. S. A. Gardner, Jr., agent of the Norwich Line of steamers, is in town.

—Dr. Turner of this city attended the triennial session of the Society of the Cincinnati.

—Prof. Charles W. Shields of Princeton, N. J. has engaged one of the Cliff Cottages for the season.

—Capt. John Simpson, U. S. A., a son-in-law of the late Nathan H. Chatee, of this city, is at the Perry House.

—Rev. Mr. A. Canoll will preach at the First Baptist, and Rev. S. J. Carroll at the Central church, tomorrow, in Fall River.

—The office of the Perry House looks so well in its new spring suit that it is proposed to treat the reading and billiard rooms in the same way.

—Mr. James N. DeBlois, of the firm of J. Neilson Howard & Co., has returned from an extended tour in Texas and other southern states.

—Mr. Henry W. Vernon has been ill at his residence in Prospect Hill street for several weeks and has steadily grown worse till he is now in a critical condition.

—Janauschock at the Opera House tonight. Lovers of the drama should improve this opportunity as there is no other entertainment as yet booked before the 28th inst.

—The directors of the Old Colony Steamboat Company were in town this morning. They came down on Conductor Jones's train and returned in the steamer Bristol this afternoon.

—Smoking wood in an oven of a house on Coddington wharf came near causing an alarm of fire this morning. Officer Gurnett discovered the cause of the smoke and prevented the striking of an alarm.

—Janauschek, the great tragedienne, will appear in the Opera House tonight as "The Countess" in Mother and Son. There should be a large house from among the patrons of the best talent on the stage.

—Williams, the "original," has received an order for 5000 artotypes, which he is now busily engaged in preparing. The dimensions of the pictures are 24x28 inches. Mr. Williams is the only person in the state who can use the artotype process.

—Mr. Jack Gilliat, Mr. Wayman Cushman, Mr. Livingston Beekman and Mr. Sam. Bradford have returned from their respective schools for their Easter vacation. The three former are from Trinity school at Tivoli-on-the-Hudson, and the latter from a military school at Peekskill.

—Officers and members of the garrison at Fort Adams have contributed to a fund for the purchase of a silver teapot to be presented to Miss Ida Lewis for her bravery in saving two members of the garrison from drowning last winter. The piece is of elegant design and manufacture and was presented to the recipient this morning at the Lime Rocks by a committee appointed for the purpose.

—The concert to be given under the auspices of the Unity club of the Channing Memorial Church on Thursday evening of next week at Touro Chapel promises to be a very enjoyable affair. The program includes several selections by the male quartette (Messrs. Blakley, Seabury, Frank and Sargent,) besides instrumental and vocal solos and duets.

—Mayor Sisson and Mr. Robert S. Franklin returned from New York last evening. While away they purchased fifteen drinking fountains by order of the City Council at an expense of $2,500. They will be placed on Callendar avenue, Broadway, Washington street, Market Square, corner of Brinley and Kay streets, in Touro Park, on Dearborn street near Thames, at the Blue Rocks, the Liberty Tree and on Narragansett avenue, near Bellevue avenue. Those for man and beast will be at No. 2 engine house, at Bailey's beach and at the gas works. The hydrants have all been located under the direction of the committee on city property.

Fall River News:—The Newport fishermen are very indignant about the new law issued on the first of February, 1831, by the Inspectors of Steamboats, requiring lights on all boats. They say they will not comply with it any way. After some of them have been arrested and paid a fine of $200 each, we think they will change their minds.

N. B.—Their resolution was published in the Boston Journal of yesterday.

YACHT CLUB ELECTION.—The annual meeting of the Providence Yacht Club was held on Thursday evening last. It was decided to hold several regattas during the coming season. The election of officers resulted as follows:—

Commodore—Benjamin Davis.
Vice Commodore—Robert W. Jenckes.
President—Benjamin Stillwell.
Treasurer—Henry F. Thompson.
Secretary—Charles I. Manchester.
Measurer—Arthur M. Black.
Trustees—Benj. Davis, E. J. Anderson, Simon Cameron.

A DISTINCTION WITHOUT A DIFFERENCE.—Some of the friends of Mr. John J. Peckham are displeased because in naming the tickets in yesterday's News, the name of E. W. Lawton was given before that of the caucus nominee. We cheerfully correct the error and will now say that the tickets in the third ward are:—

FOR COUNCILMEN:

1, Nathan Barker; 2, John J. Peckham.

1, Nathan Barker; 2, Edward W. Lawton.

Now please remember this scripture:—"The first shall be last and the last shall be first."

THE NEW TRANSLATION.

People who are interested can form some idea of the character of the new version of the New Testament, by the following samples. The extent of the changes can be seen by comparison. It will be seen that the book is printed just as one would print a discourse or a narrative in a newspaper. There are no chapter and no verse divisions, but the old chapters and verses are indicated by figures along the side of the page.

2 1 Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the king, behold, there came wise men from 2 the east to Jerusalem, saying, where is he that is born King of the Jews? for we have seen his star in the east and are 3 come to worship him. When Herod the king had heard these things, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him.
4 And when he had gathered all the chief priests and scribes of the people together, he demanded of them where Christ 5 should be born. And they said unto him, In Bethlehem of Judea; for thus it is written by the 6 prophet, And thou Bethlehem, in the land of Juda, art not the least among the princes of Juda; for out of 7 thee shall come a Governor, that shall rule my people Israel. Then Herod, when he had privily called the wise men,
inquired of them diligently what time
8 the star appeared. And he sent them to Bethlehem, and said, "Go and search diligently for the young child; and when ye have found him, bring me word 9 again, that I may come and worship him also. When they had heard the king, they departed; and lo, the star, which they saw in the east, went before them, till it came and stood over where the young child 10 was. When they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceeding great joy.
11 And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down and worshipped him: and when they had opened their treasures, they presented unto him gifts: gold, and frankincense and myrrh.
12 And being warned of God in a dream that they should not return to Herod, they departed into their own country another way.
13 And when they were departed, behold, the angel of the Lord appeared to Joseph in a dream, saying, Arise and take the young child and his mother, and flee into Egypt, and be thou there until I bring thee word: for Herod will seek the 14 young child to destroy him. When he arose he took the young child and his mother by night, and departed into 15 Egypt: and was there until the death of Herod: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet, saying, Out of Egypt have I 16 called my son. Then Herod, when he saw that he was mocked of the wise men, was exceeding wroth, and sent forth and slew all the children that were in Bethlehem, and in all the coasts thereof, from two years old and under, according to the time which he had diligently inquired of the wise men.

The following extract gives the last six verses of the 9th chapter of Hebrews and the first six verses of the 10th chapter:—

23 It was therefore necessary that the patterns of things in the heavens should be purified with these; but the heavenly things themselves with better sacrifices 24 than these. For Christ is not entered into the holy places made with hands, which are the figures of the true; but into heaven itself, now to appear in the 25 presence of God for us: Nor yet that he should offer himself often, as the high priest entereth into the holy place every 26 year with the blood of others; For then must he often have suffered since the foundation of the world; but now once in the end of the world hath he appeared to put away sin by the sacrifice of himself.
27 And as it is appointed unto men once to 28 die, but after this the judgment: So Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation.

10 1 For the law having a shadow of good things to come, and not the very image of the things, can never with those sacrifices which they offered year by 2 year continually make the comers there-unto perfect. For then would they not have ceased to be offered? because that the worshippers once purged should 3 have had no more conscience of sins. But in those sacrifices there is a remembrance 4 again made of sins every year. For it is not possible that the blood of bulls and 5 of goats should take away sins. Wherefore when he cometh into the world, he saith,
Sacrifice and offering thou wouldest not,
But a body hast thou prepared me:
6 In burnt offerings and sacrifices for sin thou hast had no pleasure.

Steamer Providence of the Fall River line came from New York last night where she has been on the dock. She will remain here till Monday when she will take her place on the route. The Bristol goes on tonight. She passed through the harbor at one o'clock today and steamed for Fall River to be in readiness for the trip. All her flags were flying in honor of the opening of the season. The Newport came down from Fall River this morning and laid up at Long wharf, a performance which the Old Colony will repeat on Monday. On and after Monday the time of leaving New York will be 5.30 P. M. instead of 5 as now.

GOV. MORGAN'S BENEFACTIONS.

Last year ex-Gov. Morgan gave $100,000 for the erection of a library building for the Union Theological Seminary and for adding to its already very valuable collection. He has now duplicated his generous gift to this ably managed institution, the second $100,000 to be applied toward the purchase of a site. Other subscriptions, amounting to $500,000, for the latter purpose, have been received, and $125,000 more will be needed to buy the excellent site for the seminary that has been secured, ten city lots fronting Park avenue, on the square bounded by that and Madison avenue and Sixty ninth and Seventieth streets.

PERIODICALS.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE for May has as frontispiece one of Abbey's full-page illustrations of Herrick's poems. The opening article is devoted to Music and Musicians in New York, by Frederick Nast, with fourteen excellent portraits. Prof. Merrill Edwards Gates contributes an article on Athens and the Greeks of today, illustrated with twelve pictures including fine portraits of King George and Queen Olga. Mrs. Aaron F. Perry contributes a paper, entitled Decorative Pottery of Cincinnati, with twenty illustrations. Marc Cook's Camp Lou—an illustrated paper on the Lake St. Regis region of the Adirondacks—calls attention to the sanitary advantages of that neighborhood to those suffering from pulmonary disease. The writer simply tells the story of his own cure, and shows what expenses he incurred in making the experiment. Shirlaw's painting, The Indian Girl is reproduced by Kruell, accompanied by a poem from the pen of Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, who also contributes a poem on George Eliot. The paper on George Eliot is by C. Kegan Paul. is very interesting, giving a portrait. Moncure D. Conway contributes an article on Thomas Carlyle, with eight illustrations. One of the features of this number is the shortest love story ever contributed to any magazine, written by Edward Everett Hale, and is less than a page in length. R. M. Johnston has another of his Georgia sketches "The unexpected Parting of the Beazley Twins," illustrated by Frost. Miss Woolson's "Anne" and Mr. Hardy's "Laodicean" are continued. George Ticknor Curtis contributes a paper on the recent ruling by the Speaker of the British House of Commons. T. A. Robertson, Magnrat E. Sangster, Nora Perry and Rose Terry Cooke contribute poems. Easy Chair, gossips concerning the recent inauguration, the opera of Don Giovanni, Carlyle's Reminiscences, International Copyright, Woman's education in England, and the absurdity of attaching English names to objects wholly American.

EMBRYO TARS.

SOME FACTS ABOUT THE UNITED STATES TRAINING SHIP MINNESOTA.—WHERE THE BOYS LIVE.—THEIR HAMMOCKS.—STUDIES.—ETC.

The crew of the Minnesota consists at present of 140 boys, 220 men and 40 marines. The entire complement is 414 boys, 631 men and 50 marines. The usual means of communication between the Minnesota and the shore is by a steam launch about the size of an ordinary catboat with a compact little engine, which drives it through the water at a high rate of speed. It was originally the launch of the "Polaris," when that vessel penetrated the Arctic seas. When the large vessel was stopped by the ice this affair was dragged over the ice and floated through the still open channels, until a point was reached further north than any vessel before had been. There have been, indeed, ships that sailed into that silent sea, into the splendors and horrors of its ice and snow, and the world knows not whether their keels still glide through unknown seas beyond the icy barrier or lie stranded on shores of unknown continents; but of all the vessels that have come back to tell the tale of their exploration, this launch, the "Young Juniata," has been furthest north.

Once over the side you are on the spar deck. Forward and aft stretches the huge vessel, and above tower stately masts, with tapering spars and a net work of ropes. Below is the gun-deck, or main-deck, and it is here that the scene is the busiest. Youthful tars, their faces glowing with youth and health, and wearing their sailor suits in a thoroughly "old salt" manner, are everywhere; scattered about among them are older sailors. In one part of the deck a class of boys are being instructed in fencing. In another place a group are being instructed in the mystery of splicing ropes, making gaskets, turk's heads, sennit, selvagees and other similar intricate sailor's work. There are other groups scattered about, all being instructed in some part of a sailor's duty and all appearing cheerful and busy. This is the gun deck, and the black breeches of cannon are seen extending down the deck on either hand. On the forward part of this deck is a carpenter's shop, a shoe-maker's shop and a tailor's shop. The cobbler's bench is under the lee of an especially murderous looking gun, and the sewing machine reposes in peaceful proximity to a nine-inch Dahlgren. In one place the boys have their mess chests and diddy-Chests. Sixteen boys form a mess, and in their mess chest they keep their cooking utensils, etc. Each boy has a diddy-box, and in it he stows away clothes brush, extra hat, looking-glass, brush and comb, stationery, and so many other things that it is a matter of wonder how such a number of things can be packed in so small a space. Then each boy has a clothes-bag, a long, canvas affair in which he keeps his wardrobe. These bags are brought on deck during the day but are stowed away at night in rooms especially prepared for them below.

The "sick-bay" is an airy apartment kept scrupulously neat and furnished with hammocks and cots. Bad colds are about the only things that bring the boys to this place, the health of the ship being generally very good. If a boy is well enough to be around deck, and yet not able to do duty, he wears a red cross on a white ground, pinned to his sleeve.

There is a library on board, but there are in it comparatively few books that are adapted to the boys' tastes, and contributions of suitable books are very much desired.

The next deck below the gun-deck is the berth-deck, which is the sleeping place of the greater portion of the crew. In the beams overhead are innumerable hooks, each having a number attached, marked in black if an odd number, and in red if an even number. Each number is the ship number of one of the boys, the even numbers belonging to the port watch, the odd to the starboard watch. Their hammocks have the same numbers, and at night it is a novel sight to see the crew when the call "all hands stand by your hammocks" is piped. Immediately every boy and sailor mounts to the spar-deck and stands close out to the bulwarks. Then the master-at-arms reports to the officer-of-the-deck "all up, sir:" the order is given "uncover" and the black hammock cloths are thrown back, showing the rows of white hammocks, looking like mammoth sausages, each neatly lashed with just seven turns of a lashing about the size of a clothes line. Then "pipe down" is sounded on the shrill boatswain's pipe, and the hammocks are tumbled out with a most confusing rapidity; yet each boy gets his own hammock and goes tugging it away, much like a red ant carrying off its larvæ when its nest is disturbed. The hammocks are taken to the berth deck, the "clews" at the end are drawn out and hooked into the hooks overhead, and then the "sausage" is unlashed, spread out and arranged for the night. It makes a comfortable bed after one learns to get into and out of it.

The forward part of the orlop deck, which is the fourth deck down, counting the spar deck as first, is occupied by the store-rooms. Here is everything, from a painting of "Pinafore" scenes to a hawser, all presided over by the ship's yeoman. There is a printing press in this room, upon which the ship's printing is done.—[Cor. Providence Star.

Archibald Forbes summarizes the career of a lecturer by saying:—"The first year he is making his reputation; the second year he is making 'his pile;' the third year he is 'fizzling out.'" Archibald never makes a statement which he cannot verify, and generally speaks from experience.

There will be some interest to know what disposal Mrs. Theodore Parker has, by will, made of her husband's "manuscripts, journals, sermons, lectures, letters, etc.," which he destined for the public library of Boston, unless his executors should print them, or his wife retain them (as in fact she did.) She left a will, which, whatever its provisions, "is to be sacredly observed," according to Parker's will, but if she left no special directions concerning the manuscripts it is possible that the surviving executors of Parker's will (F. W. G. May and F. H. Sanborn) may be called on to carry out a clause which requests them to make selections for publication and the public library may eventually receive the manuscripts, and also the crayon portraits of Parker and his wife, which by his will are ultimately "to be kept in the library and near each other." It is understood that the journals contain much that no biographer has yet seen fit to publish, and that there are still many letters and papers and much unpublished history, which may be more interesting to the coming generation than to ours.—[Letter to Springfield Republican.

FOR SALE—The very desirable place known as the George I. Bailey place, now the property of Darius Buffum, situated on the West Main road (continuation of Broadway), and adjoining the beautiful grounds of Philip Caswell, Esq. Fine large house with piazzas (superb view) and built in the very best manner; there is about nine acres of land, with a frontage on Broadway of 3-16 of a mile and ¼ of a mile on Bacon street. This is a chance seldom offered to secure a fine place on such favorable terms. It is within three minutes' walk of the one-mile corner, where the omnibus leaves hourly for the postoffice, and is one of the few places desirable for a permanent as well as for a summer residence, and being situated in Mid Heaven just beyond the Newport boundary line, the tax is only $1 on a thousand.

THE CITY OF NEWPORT.

AN ORDINANCE
In addition to and amendment of an Ordinance, entitled "An Ordinance providing for Sprinkling the streets."

It is ordained by the City Council of the City of Newport, as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 2 of said Ordinance providing for sprinkling the streets, is hereby amended by adding thereto the following words, viz:—"and that no money shall be appropriated from the city finances as aforesaid, until the Committee on Streets & Highways shall have approved in every case of the price to be paid for the sprinkling."

SECTION 2. This Ordinance shall take effect immediately.

THE CITY OF NEWPORT.

Proposals for Collection and Removal of Swill and House Offal.

IN ACCORDANCE WITH AN ORDER OF THE BOARD OF HEALTH, sealed proposals will be received by the City Clerk until Tuesday, May 3, 1881, at 5 o'clock, P. M., for collecting and removing Swill and House Offal in this city, for the remainder of the present calendar year.

The contractors will be required to collect, and remove outside of the limits of the compact part of the city, the swill and house offal from every house in the city (excepting only those whose occupants decline to permit them to do so), four times a week during May, June, July, August, September and October, and three times a week during November and December, and oftener if required, or it be necessary to prevent nuisance and decomposition; the collection must be made in air-tight tubs carried in proper carts or vehicles by one or more horses or mules; every cart, with the tubs also, must be kept clean and well painted, the carts licensed, numbered and plainly lettered "City Swill Cart" and the tubs must be kept tightly closed while being drawn through the city.

The contractors will be required also to call in person at the Police station, or to send some one authorized to act for them, between 9 o'clock and 11 o'clock A. M., on the days named for collecting and removing such swill and offal, to receive and attend promptly to any complaints of neglect or otherwise, which may be made; they will also be required not to allow any nuisance or annoyance to be caused to any inhabitant in consequence of depositing any swill or offal in any place outside of the limits of the compact part of the city, and not to keep any swine within one quarter of a mile from said limits as defined by ordinance.

Bidders are requested to propose for the whole city, also for each ward separately or for either of the wards separately. All proposals to be marked "Proposals for collecting and removing Swill and House Offal"; the right to reject any or all is reserved, also the right to award the contract in whole or portions, or to one, or more persons

By direction of the Board of Health.

STATE OF RHODE ISLAND —AND—
PROVIDENCE PLANTATIONS.

NEWPORT, SC. CITY OF NEWPORT.

WHEREAS, Wednesday, the twentieth day of April A. D. 1881, is by the City Charter the day designated for holding the Ward Meetings for the election of City Officers; wherefore, the electors of this city qualified to vote for General Officers are hereby notified to assemble in their respective ward meetings on the day aforesaid, at half-past six o'clock in the morning at the following named places:

In the First Ward—At the Ward Room, Bridge street;

In the Second Ward—At the Justice Court Room, State House;

In the Third Ward—At the "Perry House," Touro street, West room, lower floor;

In the Fourth Ward—At No. 8 Engine House, Prospect Hill street;

In the Fifth Ward—At the Ward Room, Young street;

And to give in, as they may be severally qualified therefor, their ballots for one elector of said City for Mayor; for one elector of their respective wards to be a member of the Board of Aldermen; for two electors of their respective wards to be members of the Common Council; for one elector of said city for City Marshal; for one elector for Street Commissioner; for the elector for City Treasurer; for one elector for Superintendent of Public Schools; each for the term of one year from the first Monday in June next; and for four residents of said city to be Public School Committeemen for the term of three years from the first Monday in June next, and

WHEREAS, the City Council of said city at a meeting held on the fifth day of April, 1881, passed the following Resolution, viz:—"Resolved, That the following proposition be submitted to the electors of this city qualified to vote upon any proposition to impose a tax or for the expenditure of money, at the ward meetings to be holden Wednesday, April 20, 1881, viz:—

"Shall the City Council be authorized to purchase a suitable site in the Third Ward, and erect a brick Engine House and Ward Room; at a cost not to exceed Seven Thousand Dollars."

Resolved, That the City Clerk shall provide for the Ward Meetings aforesaid, a sufficient number of ballots whereon shall be the words of the proposition aforesaid, and upon half the number of said ballots shall be also the word "YES," and upon the remainder the word "NO."

Resolved, That all the aforesaid ballots voted or given in at said Ward Meetings shall be sealed up by the several Wardens and Clerks at the close of the Ward Meetings and be returned to the City Clerk on the same day, and at the next meeting of the Board of Aldermen shall be opened and counted, and the result published by said Board."

Wherefore the electors of said city qualified to vote upon any proposition to impose a tax or for the expenditure of money are hereby notified to give in their ballots upon the above stated proposition, at the before-named places in their respective wards, on said Wednesday the 20th day of April, 1881.

Said Ward Meetings, according to law, will be kept open from half-past six o'clock in the morning until half-past six o'clock in the evening, and no longer.

Witness my hand this 12th day of April, A. D. 1881.

Hilda's Experiment.

It was a stormy night in November. The Dutch clock in Judge Harrison's study had just struck nine. Judge Harrison himself, an austere-looking man, sat upright in his chair, gazing coldly at his guest.

"Well," said Dr. Hooper, putting on his gloves, "of course it isn't for me, or any one else, to interfere in family matters. But your grandchild is left totally unprovided for, sir."

"I cannot help that," said the judge, frigidly. "Eight years ago I offered to support the child, and the father too, if he would only consent to leave that outlandish foreign wife of his. He married her against my will. He clung to her against my will. Let him abide by his decision."

"It's only natural, judge, that a man should cleave unto his wife," urged the doctor.

"It is only natural, then, that a man should provide for the child of that wife, Dr. Hooper. At all events, I shall assume no further responsibility."

"But, Judge Harrison, you are a rich man."

"But, as I made my money myself, I feel that I have a right to spend it to suit myself."

"Hilda is a fine girl," still pleaded Dr. Hooper.

"No doubt; but you will pardon me if I feel no very great anxiety to see the child of the German singing woman who stole my son's heart away from me."

Dr. Hooper hesitated.

"Judge," he said at last, in a tone of appealing earnestness, "you have another granddaughter."

"I have. My daughter's child, Margaret Lennox, makes her home with me."

"And you deny a similar home to Hilda Harrison?"

Judge Harrison's shaggy white brows met in a straight, frowning line.

"Doctor," he said, "you will fail to make distinction between a dutiful child and one who has been undutiful."

"Let me see Miss Lennox," said Dr. Hooper. "Let me interest her in the fact of this desolate, unknown cousin. She has a woman's heart in her bosom. I am sure I can move her."

Judge Harrison smiled coldly as he touched a small bell which stood on the table beside him.

"Send Miss Marion here," said he to a servant, and the man noiselessly obeyed.

In another minute a tall, dignified girl stood in the room—a girl with deep blue eyes, dressed in a soft blue stuff that fell in folds about her.

"Marion," said the judge, "this is Dr. Hooper. He has come here to plead the cause of your Uncle Severn's daughter Hilda. Severn deliberately disobeyed me, at first in marrying Hildergarde Boehmer—he rejected the offer I afterwards made of taking him and the child home, if he would leave the siren who had blighted all his life. Now he is dead, and has left his child unprovided for. I say, As he has sown, so let his child reap. What do you say?"

"I think grandpapa is quite right," said Marion, in a short, sweet voice. "Grandpapa is always right."

"Then you have no word to speak for this lonely little orphan?" cried out Dr. Hooper, deeply indignant. Marion laid her ringed hand upon that of her grandfather, and nestled close to him.

"I always defer my judgment to that of grandpapa," said she, and Judge Harrison, passing his arm around the girl's waist, looked with ill-concealed triumph at the luckless special pleader.

Dr. Hooper bowed, spoke his adieux, and departed.

When he returned to his own home, a dark-eyed girl met him at the door.

"Have you seen him, doctor—my grandfather?" she asked eagerly.

Dr. Hooper nodded. "It's of no use, though," said he. "The old man has a heart like granite; and that girl, your own cousin, is of cast iron."

"He will not take me?"

"No."

Hilda Harrison set her lips together.

"Well," said she, "then I must manage to provide for myself."

"No hurry, lass; no hurry," said the kindly little doctor. "Go tell the wife to bring me a cup of hot coffee before I start out again."

"Hilda," he said presently, as he sat toasting his feet before the fire, with his wife knitting opposite, and Judge Harrison's granddaughter leaning against the window and looking out into the stormy darkness, "what are you going to do?"

"I don't think I quite know, doctor."

"You are sixteen?"

"Sixteen and a half, sir."

"And you cannot teach?"

"Oh dear, no, sir!" Hilda shook her head decidedly. "I had no chance for an education, travelling about as I did."

"Nor sew."

"Not well enough to adopt it for a profession."

"Then, for all I can see, there is nothing left but to go into domestic service."

"I would take a place tomorrow, doctor, if I could get a good home and decent wages," said Hilda, quickly.

"Good," said Dr. Hooper. "That is the right spirit, child! I don't fear but what you'll make your way, in one direction or another. But I think I can see something a little more promising ahead of you than that."

"What is it, doctor?"

"I noticed the way you took care of your poor father, Hilda, in his last illness. I thought then you would make a good nurse—I think so now. There is an opening in St. Francesca's hospital. A good home and $1 per day. I can offer you that position."

"As nurse, doctor?"

"As nurse."

Hilda pondered a second or two, and then came forward. "Doctor," said she, "I will try it."

And so Clement Harrison's granddaughter donned the little muslin cap, print dress, and white ruffled apron of the St. Franciscan corps of nurses, and set diligently to work earning her own living.

A year passed by, and Dr. Wallace sent word that a nurse was wanted for a small-pox case in the city. The sister superior looked dubiously at her women.

"Who will go?" said she—and Hilda Harrison stepped forward.

"I will," said she. "I have no fears of contagion, and I want to add to my experience."

So little Hilda packed her bag and went. The housekeeper of the great house was wringing her hands, half terrified out of her senses; the other servants had takengreceipitous leave.

"And the young lady went this morning," said she. "I should think she might have stayed."

"Who is that young lady?" questioned innocent Hilda.

"The old gentleman's granddaughter, that he had brought up and petted like a cosset lamb," said Mrs. Hurst. "Oh, the ingratitude of some folks. And if Judge Harrison dies—"

Hilda looked up quickly from the bottles of carbolic acid she was unpacking.

"Is this Judge Harrison's house?" said she.

"Why, of course it is," answered Mrs. Hurst. "Didn't you know?"

"No, I did not know," Hilda said. "But it makes no difference whose it is."

"Who are you?" Judge Harrison asked, hoarsely, as the light foot crossed the threshold.

"I am the nurse from St. Francesca's. They call be Hilda."

"Never mind my other name," said the young girl, with a gentle authority that had come to her with months of practice at the weary sick beds. "They call me Hilda; and you are not to talk and excite yourself."

"Do you know you are running a great risk?"

"It is my business to run risks."

Three weeks elapsed. The crisis of the disease was past. The old man, weakened, indeed, and sadly disfigured, was able once more to sit up in his easy chair; and Hilda, who had watched over him with a vigilance and tenderness which he fully appreciated, was arranging fresh flowers in a vase on the table.

"Hilda," said he, slowly, "where has my granddaughter been all this time?"

"She went away, sir, when you were first taken ill. She was afraid of the disease."

"There was gratitude!" he muttered hoarsely. "And when is she coming back?"

Hilda laid down her roses, and looked with pathetic, feeling eyes at him.

"She will not come back at all, sir," she answered. "We dared not tell you before; but—her flight was in vain. She died of small-pox last week."

The old man turned away with a smothered groan. And then, after a pause, "Hilda," said he, "you will stay with me? You will not leave me alone? Nay, do not speak. I know who you are. I recognized your name when you first came. You have looked at me with your father's eyes many a time since. Hilda, I think God has sent you to me."

And good Dr. Hooper was well satisfied with the result of Hilda's experiment at earning her own living.

We desire to express our obligations to our many friends and the public in general, for the very liberal patronage bestowed on us during the past year. It has entirely exceeded our expectations.
It has been our aim to furnish the trade with such goods as might be wanted at as low price as was consistent with the quality of material used.
For the coming year we shall adhere to the same principles, and trust that our efforts may be appreciated.

MAKE NO DELAY,
Meaning You.

The months of March, April and May are the three arches of a bridge which binds the season of ice to that of roses. Therefore Spring is a trying period for invalids. Indications of disease should now be heeded at once. If you are vexed with indigestion, disordered Liver or Kidneys, want of appetite, constipation of the Bowels or feverish skin, take Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy without an hour's delay. It is mild, quick and positive in its action. Keep it in the house when you are at home, and take it with you on journeys; you can have no better friend.

It adapts itself to the common ills of every day, and should be found in every family where this journal is read. What Favorite Remedy is recommended to do it will do. Ask your Druggist for it. But little money is wanted; only One Dollar a bottle.

"Favorite Remedy" is the friend of childhood and should be found in every nursery in the land. Keep it in your house for your children's sake as well as for your own. For women who suffer from any of the ills peculiar to the sex, Favorite Remedy proves a real blessing. Try it and you will be glad you saw this article. Make no mistake. The medicine is "Favorite Remedy," and the proprietor's name and address: Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

Patients living at a distance, (except in surgical cases), by sending a statement of their case can be treated at home. a14-4w

SUPERIOR NUTRITION THE LIFE.
IMPERIAL GRANUM
REGISTERED JUNE 5 1877
THE GREAT MEDICINAL FOOD
THE SALVATOR FOR INVALIDS AND THE AGED.
AN INCOMPARABLE ALIMENT FOR THE GROWTH AND PROTECTION OF INFANTS AND CHILDREN.
A SUPERIOR NUTRITIVE IN CONTINUED FEVERS, AND A RELIABLE REMEDIAL AGENT IN ALL DISEASES OF THE STOMACH AND INTESTINES.

THIS justly celebrated Dietetic Preparation is, in composition, principally the GLUTEN derived from the WHITE WINTER FLINT WHEAT CEREAL, a solid extract, the invention of an eminent Chemist. It has not only been highly recommended but certified to by a large number of Chemists and Physicians—representing a very high degree of medical science—as the SAFEST, MOST ACCEPTABLE AND RELIABLE FOOD FOR THE GROWTH AND PROTECTION OF INFANTS AND CHILDREN, and for MOTHERS lacking sufficient nourishment for their offspring.

Unlike those preparations made from animal or vinous matter, which are liable to stimulate the brain and irritate the digestive organs, it embraces in its elementary composition—THAT WHICH MAKES STRONG BONE AND MUSCLE. THAT WHICH MAKES GOOD FLESH AND BLOOD. THAT WHICH IS EASY OF DIGESTION—NEVER CONSTIPATING. THAT WHICH IS KIND AND FRIENDLY TO THE BRAIN, AND THAT WHICH ACTS AS A PREVENTIVE OF THOSE INTESTINAL DISORDERS INCIDENTAL TO CHILDHOOD.

And, while it would be difficult to conceive of anything in Food or Dessert more Creamy and Delicious, or more Nourishing and Strengthening as an aliment in Fevers, Pulmonary Complaints, Dyspepsia and General Debility, its Rare Medicinal Excellence in all Intestinal Diseases, especially in Dysentery, Chronic Diarrhœa and Cholera Infantum, has been incontestably proven.

VENISON!
AT EAGLE MARKET.
W. S. BRYER, NO. 90 THAMES STREET.

THE GREAT
KIDNEY REGULATOR AND DIURETIC.

Kidnegen is highly recommended and unsurpassed for Weak or Foul Kidneys, Dropsy, Bright's Disease, Loss of Energy, Nervous Debility, or any obstructions arising from Kidney or Bladder Diseases. Also for Yellow Fever, Blood and Kidney Poisoning, in infected malarial sections.

By the distillation of a Forest Leaf with Juniper Berries and Barley Malt we have discovered Kidnegen, which acts specifically on the Kidneys and Urinary Organs, removing deposits in the Bladder and straining, smarting, heat or irritation in the water passages, giving them strength, vigor and causing a healthy color and easy flow of urine. It can be taken at all times, in all climates without injury to the system. Unlike any other preparation for Kidney difficulties it has a very pleasant and agreeable taste and flavor. It contains positive diuretic properties and will not nauseate. Ladies especially will like it, and gentlemen will find Kidnegen the best Kidney Tonic ever used!

Notice.—Each bottle bears the signature of Lawrence & Martin, also a proprietary government stamp, which permits Kidnegen to be sold (without license) by Druggists, Grocers and other persons everywhere. Put up in quart size bottles for general and family use. If not found at your druggists or grocers, we will send a bottle prepaid to the nearest express office to you.

SURE CURE
For Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Asthma, Consumption, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs.

Put up in Quart-Size Bottles for Family Use.
Scientifically prepared of Balsam Tolu, Crystallized Rock Candy, Old Rye, and other tonics. The formula is known to our best physicians, is highly commended by them, and the analysis of our most prominent chemist, Prof. G. A. MARINER, in Chicago, is on the label of every bottle. It is well known to the medical profession that TOLU ROCK and RYE will afford the greatest relief for Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Bronchitis, Sore Throat, Weak Lungs, also Consumption, in the incipient and advanced stages.

Used as a BEVERAGE and APPETIZER, it makes a delightful tonic for family use. Is pleasant to take; if weak or debilitated it gives tone, activity and strength to the whole human frame.

CAUTION. DON'T BE DECEIVED by unprincipled dealers who try to palm off upon you Rock and Rye in place of our TOLU ROCK AND RYE, which is the only medicated article made, the genuine having a GOVERNMENT STAMP on each bottle.
